Bruns Builder is a family owned custom builder who has been delivering outstanding custom homes since 1972. Their design team brings the clients' ideas to life. Ryan and Kyle Bruns work with clients from the initial meeting and design phase through completion of the home. Their team's complete understanding of the business and willingness to listen to their customer's wants insures customer satisfaction throughout the building process.

Jeff West has over 30 years of experience building quality custom homes in Central Indiana. He uses these years of expertise to provide exceptional quality at an affordable price, utilizing long-standing relationships with his select suppliers and contractors. Jeff prides himself on building that same outstanding relationship with each and every client by spending quality time listening and creating a home design that is catered to each client's very specific desires and needs.

The staff at Larry Good Homes has been building custom homes since 1972. Whether you are looking to downsize into one of our maintenance free patio homes or upsize, we have a variety of home plans to offer. We can also work with you on your unique design. Through our years of experience, we have perfected a home building process that will keep things simple and moving along smoothly.

Phil Standley of Standley Built Homes, Inc., has proudly been building custom homes on the southside of Indianapolis since 2001. With many years of experience in the custom home building business, Phil's expertise will guide you through the process to make it as simple as possible. You can trust that Phil will be on your homesite every day, making sure your expectations and specifications are met. Standley Built Homes is an honest and loyal builder you can trust to bring your dream home into a reality!
